

Josera

Catelux

Your cat is a true gourmet but is prone to hair ball formation?

JOSERA Catelux with delicious duck and potatoes contains extra dietary fibre. It is therefore the ideal feed for finicky cats who are prone to hair ball formation.

- With delicious duck and potatoes for finicky cats
- The dietary fibre counteracts the formation of hair balls because swallowed hair moves through the digestive tract along with the special fibre. This is particularly important for long-haired cats.
- Valuable fatty acids, vitamins and trace elements ensure healthy skin and a shiny coat
- Encourages a pH-value of 6.0-6.5 to reduce the risk of urinary stone formation

Complete feed for adult cats

Composition: poultry meat meal (poultry 18%, duck 6%); maize; poultry fat; greaves; potato starch 10.0%; sugar beet pulp; cellulose; maize gluten; poultry protein, hydrolysed; poultry liver, dried; mono-sodium phosphate; potassium chloride; psyllium husks.

Extreme Anti-Hairball

Special dietary fibres support the transport of swallowed hairs through the digestive track. This can reduce the development of hairballs.

Skin & Coat

A shiny, silky coat and healthy skin are indicators for a well nourished cat. This is due to the presence of fatty acids, vitamins and easily absorbable organically bound zinc and copper.

Urinary-pH 6.0-6.5

The careful selection of ingredients and the special recipes ensure a perfect calcium-phosphorus ratio and a reduced magnesium level. A pH-value of 6.0-6.5 is being supported and can reduce the risk of urinary stone formation.
